Shannon Launches Social Network

GiveYourWallsSomeSoul.com debuted this month. It's a wonderful internet salon...from creative ideas to creative ventures to creative lives. We are all creators.

The television series, Give Your Walls Some Soul, and the Give Your Walls Some Soul Network, are as much about taking inspired action as they are about art. This site was created to ignite your won creativity, network with others, and have some fun! There are great resources like free painting critiques by phenomenal artist Janet Vanderhoof. The blogs are inspiring and you'll find some incredible music by fresh new artists. So check it out...it's easy to join! No matter where your passion lies, this site will inspire you.

Please note that the new social networking site will replace my other blogs, but does not replace my wonderful web site!
